These cases can be used for flat screens ranging from 32 inches to 75 inches. There are five different sized models, and each size can be made for one or two TVs. An innovative new key feature is that they are adjustable by the user for different size monitors. These cases are made in the USA.

Utilizing many years of experience in building cases to protect valuable flat screen TVs in shipping, Philly Case designed and manufactures these cases to be durable and adjustable. They can be used to ship flat screens of all kinds, including monitors, plasma televisions, large LCD TVs and LED TVs. Features include:

- Fit most flat screen TVs/monitors from 32" to 75"
- Available in single or double screen versions
- Self-adjustable case interior (adjust length and height) for different size monitors; no need for multiple cases
- Available in standard gray color or custom colors
- Designed to be stackable with forklift entry
- Padlock capable (both sides)
- Water resistant
- 45% lighter and more durable than wood
- Recessed wheels with heavy duty bumpers and forklift entry points to avoid the most common cause of damage - forklift stabbing wheels
- Lighter and easier to move and navigate
- Lower freight cost due to lighter weight

Vinny Barbati, President of Philly Case Company, who designed this new line of flat screen television/monitor cases, comments, "These new cases are the most innovative design that this industry has seen in a long time. There's a lot of experience and know-how built into these cases to make them both rugged and adjustable by users.”
